Help prevent suicide.

The LivingWorks ASIST experience

LivingWorks ASIST is a two-day face-to-face workshop featuring powerful audiovisuals, discussions, and simulations.

At a LivingWorks ASIST workshop, you'll learn how to prevent suicide by recognizing signs, providing a skilled intervention, and developing a safety plan to keep someone alive.

Two knowledgeable, supportive trainers will guide you through the course, ensuring your comfort and safety.

Assist in our Community

The SW Behavioral Health Partnership is providing this FREE training to people in the community who want to be a part of our rural southwestern Wisconsin support networks.

Are you uncomfortable thinking about how to help someone you are worried may be contemplating suicide, or who is in deep pain? Do you want to feel confident in knowing how to connect and intervene with people of all ages who may be considering suicide? You might be a faith-based or community leader, school faculty member, social worker or mental health provider, or someone with lived experience of mental health struggles.

We are asking that people who are trained commit to using the skills they learn to become a part of a coalition-driven network of support. This will include using these new skills within your existing role, and letting peers and partners know that you are a resource for your organization and beyond.
