

Positive Social Interaction

BREAK YOUR STRESS CYCLE

Socializing increases oxytocin, a hormone in your brain that decreases anxiety.

Walk in the park, chat on the phone, or meet up for a safe, shared experience. You can still maintain a connection while being safely distanced.